ORU G NAALU T

Guys Tell Them That you Transformed

Oru G Naalu T (Originality) was an event organised with the notion of 'Earn when you learn.' With the ever-changing trends in technology the best way to put one's skills is to put it to practice.

With freelancing a promising field to scout for talent and to offer service shows possibilities of overgrowth in the upcoming years due to the world moving towards remote employment. The event focussed on introducing the world of freelancing while discussing the ways to apply for a job, the opportunities and the risk factors.

What could be the best form of perfection? Apart from self-preparation? The team took it upon themselves to offer the best, by being the best themselves!

How so?

To ensure the participants had personal guidance from the team, the members of the guide were split and were equipped with knowledge in their field of expertise and how it can be devised to suit the freelancing demands. The attendees showed a great deal of enthusiasm to explore an area of earning and by chance to polish their skills real time.

A member of the guidance team who already had experience working with freelancing clients shared his experience on the skill sets required and the nuances of working remote. In all, the event was fulfilled and at the same time inspiring, was what the organiser piped up about it.

VAZHIKATTI

We guide to your destiny

Event poster

A guide is akin to the light at the end of the tunnel. We have all looked for an extended hand at times of trial and situations like now, with COVID-19 has made us realize we could only rely on each other.

What better time to do that than now? Hence was born...

The event VAZHIKATTI organized as an Online career guidance program on 6th April, 2020, was initiated with the motive of guiding students through their dreams, by channelling them in the right direction. During the event week, the organisers and the participants explored a wide range of educational thresholds, from literature to science, which was a profound experience to the team.

The team walked the participants through various platforms of E-learning and thus achieving the motto of the event.

The event reach was far better than was planned and participation from across the nation and many different domains were recorded.

The participants were indulged personally by the respective guides and were able to voice their doubts and plans to acquire proper assistance.

The event coordinators Yy.DineshPrabhu, Yy.LoguVignesh and Yy.Sathyapriya expressed the participants were enthusiastic and had a diverse knowledge that they were able to learn a lot of new things themselves. The event has not only been a boon for the participants but also for the team, as it gave them an insight about the trends and technologies lurking behind the hearts of students and professionals and the opportunities hidden beneath

The team expressed they achieved the motto "By the students for the students."

SEED

Rome was not built in a day- nothing can be truer. Perfection and professionalism can only be attained through consistency and commitment.

In other words, the only shortcut to success is the longest cut.

SEED- Skill Enhancement and Efficiency Development Program was an initiative to groom the soft skills of the participants in three stages, each stage a different battle ground. The event, launched on 11th May, 2020 was planned to be conducted over a period of a week, during which the participants were challenged on their writing skills, oratorical skills and managerial abilities.

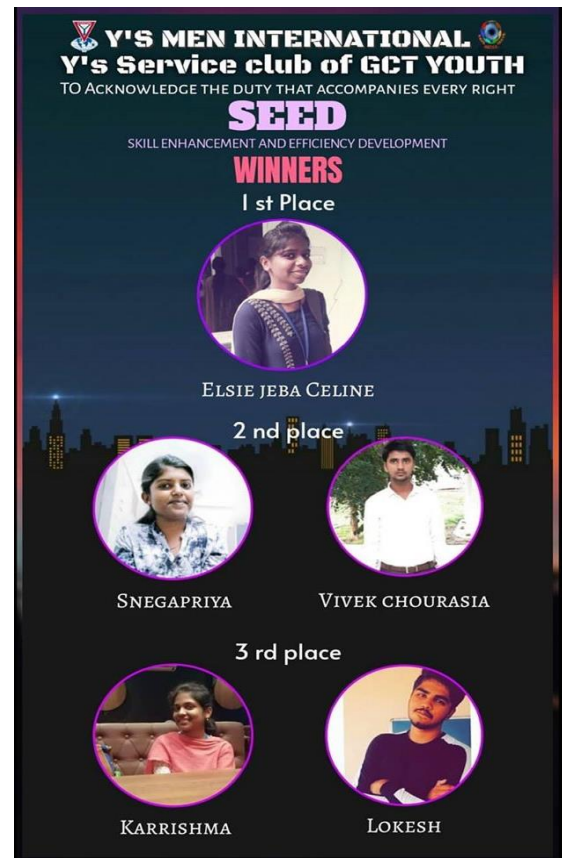

The participants were from different levels of graduation took part adding to the enthusiasm of the event. The first screening level was creative writing and was conducted over WhatsApp. The next level was a notch up, testing the participants debating skills in a live event conducted via Zoom App.

The final round was a stress interview conducted via Zoom App and the winners were selected base on their effective show of managerial skills and response to pressure. The organisers Yy. DineshPrabhu and Yy. Soundariya expressed the participants felt more events of similar essence would help them in placements and as such.

JOURNEY WITH OUR MENTOR

*A mediocre mentor tells,
A good mentor explains,
A superior mentor demonstrates,
A great mentor inspires!*

True to William Arthur's words our club advisor and Assistant professor in the department of physics, Ym. Balakrishnan has been a pillar of support right from the conception of the club till now.

As they say, the first step is the hardest!

Our adviser took the first step with only a few students to lay the foundations for the club as he burdened himself with the most crucial responsibilities. With every step he has offered nothing short of encouragement as he supported the team in the decisions as well as tribulations.

A great mentor is also a great friend!

Our club advisor has always recognised and appreciated the skills and talents of every member, while correcting the mistakes as gently and firmly as a friend would. A year has passed with our advisor and the entire team has earned someone to look up to, someone who has been a father figure.

Passion is the key!

The moral support of the club when overwhelmed has been our advisor who has always directed as to device our services along the lines of our passion, for it would benefit not only those that receive but also the one that off.

THE POET IN YOU

GLIMPSES OF PAST...

*In the canvas of my life,
I can see the glimpses of my past alive*

*Some are bitter,
Some are sweeter,
Some are sad,
Some are gone far ahead.*

*I still remember those days,
When I used to run ahead,
Without a flinch,
Just with a blink,
Mom used to hold me,
That was the safest place I guarantee.*

*The impression of school days,
Still make my tears fall away.*

*A lot to say,
But not enough way,
Here's an end to my canvas play...*

COVID-19 VACCINE

War against the virus

The world has never been in more of a frenzy in almost a century. The raging pandemic and the surrounding panic has us all looking forward to a miracle – A vaccine!

With dozen countries developing vaccine for corona virus, including Australia, Britain, U.S. and China, the scientists are positive it will be late 2020 or early next year for a COVID-19 Vaccine. The countries have also been investing in vaccine candidates while hoping for their own, one of the leading candidates being developed by Oxford University and produced by AstraZeneca.

While groups like GAVI are working to buy doses for poor countries, AstraZeneca has consented to license its vaccine to India's Serum Institute for production of 1 billion doses. The World Health Organisation (WHO) has been formulating guidelines for justified distribution of vaccines and it is expected that the distribution will begin with greater risk areas and incline towards the rest.

Indian scientists agreed, due to the mutating nature of the virus, the availability of COVID-19 vaccine will be around the end of the year, echoing the scientists from around the world.
